

To my dear readers.

this edition is expressing more and more the reason why it is was born, that is becoming a focus for psychosynthetic community, where our own thoughts can be made known, where we can find answers, although they might be partial sometimes, which can open us to new spaces, where we can share and make proposals.

In magazine n. 8 I already underlined news and creative suggestions, which were developed after worldwide involvement during 2012 International Congress.

New working teams have bloomed from the psychosynthetic tree - almost as recognition of the Multiple Soul - and now they are harmonically growing as the stakes of a big tree, aiming towards discovery, research, union, sharing, study and co-operation.

Ethic and Beauty followed this union aim and Roberto Assagioli's articles, which you will find in this edition, will help to catch their deepest meaning.

You may find many other precious stones within the articles which have reached us and that we are now publishing with pleasure, as we are seeing in them all and evolving uniqueness.
