

It is surprising that so little is written about love in psychology books. Of all the possible experiences known to human beings, love is the cure for loneliness, depression, and anxiety, the remedy for rage, the liberator of our creative powers. It is the ultimate health - and strength - giving force.

Many people today are too embarrassed to confront love fully or even to talk about it. And yet who, in their most honest moments, would not admit that they long to bring more love into their life? Wouldn't we all make this choice if we had the courage?

BRINGING MORE LOVE INTO YOUR LIFE: THE CHOICE IS YOURS

A step-by-step guide from the Findhorn Foundation using Psychosynthesis principles and techniques always standing at a crossroads where we have the choice to bring more love into our life.

Based on a course given by the authors for several years at the Findhorn Foundation, this book leads the reader through a carefully sequenced set of exercises - many of them derived from Psychosynthesis, a holistic psychospiritual approach to human development introduced by the late Italian psychiatrist Roberto Assagioli. Space is provided in the book for readers to record their experience as they work through the course. The Psychosynthesis approach is blended with the philosophy of the Findhorn Community, as embodied by Eileen Caddy, to make a unique book which is likely to have a real effect on readers' lives through engaging them in a practical process of learning and change.

The course presented by this book can be undertaken individually and is ideal for the "workshop-shy".

Alternatively, a small group could follow it together, meeting regularly to share their experiences.
